

U.S. MARINES READY TO LAND IN MEXICO IF YAQUIS RISE AGAIN

Admiral Howard Reports Native Troops Now Have Indians In Check.

MURDERS NOT CONFIRMED

Cruiser Raleigh at Guaymas and New Orleans Is on Its Way to Scene.

First definite reports of conditions regarding the Yaqui Indian outbreak near Guaymas, Mexico, received today from Admiral T. B. Howard, in command of the Pacific fleet, indicate that the situation is more hopeful, and immediate landing of marines will not be necessary to save American lives.

Admiral Howard's report contains no confirmation of the reported killing of Americans. He states that the Mexican troops, which at first failed to take active steps toward putting down the outbreak, now are holding the Yaquis in check.

Three Americans killed. Unconfirmed reports tell of the killing of three Americans, wounding of another, and the killing of several Mexicans by the Yaquis, who are well armed. Fifty Americans, including several women, are among the captives, only battling with the Indians, who are enraged at being kept off their former lands in the rich Yaqui river valley of Sonora, according to a dispatch.

At Ures, a village west of Hermosillo, nine Mexicans were killed by another band of Yaquis. The principal fighting, however, has been about Esperanza, where the Americans have valuable concessions.

The Yaquis are not understood to be aligned with either the Villista or Carranzista factions. Reports confirming the killing of J. J. Donovan, Jack Wilson, and W. A. Fay, Americans, and several Mexicans by the Yaquis were received from the American consul at Hermosillo. The Yaqui attacks began May 1.

Increasing activity of Villista and Carranzista forces were reported. The State Department and Junta dispatches that Villistas have again attacked Panuco and cut river communication between Panuco and Tampico.

Repulses Villistas. General Obregon reported that Tuesday he repulsed a cavalry attack upon one of his positions, killing 400 Villistas and capturing large quantities of munitions and many horses.

The Villista Junta issued a statement declaring Spain has practically recognized that faction by appointing Emilio Zapata, a veteran diplomat, as special envoy to Villa, to reside at Chihuahua, any that Villa will reciprocate by sending an envoy to reside at Chihuahua.

Capture of Alamos last Wednesday after seven hours fighting was also reported by General Maytorena, who said the Carranzistas killed 80 wounded and 100 prisoners. The Villistas lost 16 killed and 23 wounded.

Cable communication between Vera Cruz and Mexico City has been resumed after two days' suspension, but telegraphic communication beyond Apam is still interrupted.

DERNBURG TO LEAVE, BERNSTORFF SAYS

German Ambassador Denies That He Knows Where Propagandist Is Going.

(Continued from First Page.) see by British or French, as has been suggested? Count von Bernstorff was asked.

"I have not been requested to do so," the ambassador replied. "All I know about Dr. Dornburg's intentions is that he told me he intended to leave the United States."

Another suggestion made was that Dr. Dornburg might go to one of the Latin-American countries. Of this Count von Bernstorff could not hazard an opinion.

He would not comment on cable reports from Havana that the Cuban government and people would object to Dr. Dornburg's presence there, in the light of his actions in this country.

Count von Bernstorff's attention was called to an article published in New York today declaring that he would within the next twenty-four hours serve notice on the editors of German newspapers of the United States that their critical attitude toward the United States government is distasteful to the German imperial government, because it is calculated to stir up anti-German sentiment in the United States.

"That is positively false," the ambassador said. "I have not received any such instructions from my government, and have not thought of giving instructions to the press."

"It takes about half my time denying newspaper articles," Ambassador Bernstorff said, with a smile. "Last night I was called on the telephone at midnight to deny some newspaper story."

Count von Bernstorff spent almost the entire day in his office at the embassy receiving reports of embassy officials and going over dispatches.

ARRANGING FUNERAL FOR A. D. PRINCE

Prominent District Jeweler Dies Suddenly At Home In Sixteenth Street.

Arrangements for the funeral of Abraham D. Prince, whose death occurred suddenly last night at the residence, 1528 Sixteenth street northwest, are being completed today. The services will be held Tuesday at a time to be announced later.

The death of Mr. Prince removes from the commercial life of Washington one of its most prominent figures. Associated with the jewelry firm of R. Harris & Co. since its organization, Mr. Prince was the sole owner at his death. He was president of the Retail Jewelers' Association of the District, had served as director of the Chamber of Commerce and was treasurer of the Retail Merchants' Association and of the Washington Suburban Club. He also was a director of the United Hebrew Charities. Mr. Prince for years had been active in alleviating the distress of the needy. He was a member of St. John's Lodge, F. A. A. M., and of Almas Temple, Mystic Shrine. In all the activities of the Washington Hebrew Congregation he had taken an active part.

Mr. Prince was sixty-eight years old and a native of Scotland. He came to America at an early age, and resided in Washington for the past thirty-five years. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Julius I. Peyser and Mrs. Alma Straus.

MYSTERY SHROUDS DUAL DEATH PACT

Rich Newark Man's Son, Aged 18, Kills His Bride and Then Self in Hotel.

NE YORK, May 14.—Arrangements were made today for the burial of eighteen-year-old Harold W. Ault and his bride, the victims of a suicide pact whose bodies were found in St. Regis last night, but no solution of the mystery has yet been given.

From the letter written by the young husband to his father, Charles H. Ault, of Newark, it is apparent that the couple agreed to die together.

The father, who is vice president of a large bank concern, thinks his son was a drug victim. He says he was on the best of terms with his daughter-in-law.

Young Ault shot his wife and then himself after writing several letters to his family.

For a few hours after dinner the young couple started writing farewell letters to their friends. They wrote to Esther Ault, the bridegroom's sister, and to his mother, Mrs. Ault. They also wrote to George C. Ault, of Newark.

Other letters were addressed to the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bertha Tichnor, Syracuse, and to Charles L. Ingles, of Marietta, Cuba.

In one of these letters the bride wrote: "I lived for him. I loved him, and now I am going to die for him."

The letter was noted by one of the servants, who entered the room before the suicide and saw a freshly written letter lying on the desk.

Finally a note was written to O. C. Bevia, manager of the St. Regis, requesting him to inform the elder Ault that his daughter had died.

The two bullets which ended their lives were found on the floor beside them.

When the police and other officials ended their examination of the bodies and of the property in the room they said the couple had a couple of 2-cent stamps were all they could find in addition to Ault's gold watch and chain and a diamond scarfpin and the bride's wedding ring and engagement ring of sapphires and diamonds. But the hotel people said that the man and the woman were well supplied with money, his pocketbook and her little purse being stuffed with bills.

The luggage which the young couple had brought with them to the St. Regis was covered with labels of foreign hotels, among them the Continental in Cairo and the Splendide in Lugano, Italy. Before his marriage, young Ault resided with his father in London, and seems to have made trips to Europe and Egypt. The clothing which the Aults had brought with them was of expensive texture and cut.

Turkish Navy's Speediest Destroyer Sank Goliath

CONSTANTINOPLE (via Berlin by wireless), May 15.—The Mouavenet-Millet, the speediest destroyer in the Turkish navy, sank the British warship Goliath inside the Dardanelles. It was officially announced here tonight.

The destroyer escaped a rain of shells and returned safely to base. She reported that but few of the 700 men on board the Goliath were rescued.

PUPILS WILL PRESENT FESTIVAL AND DANCE

Margaret Wilson Social Center Will Give Adaptation of Grimm's Fairy Tales.

With scenery built and fireproofed by boys of the school, and painted by Miss Olive Wright, a teacher, pupils of the Margaret Wilson social center, of the Grover Cleveland School, will present a spring festival, dance, and theatricals on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings.

Forty pupils are in the cast of "Rumpelstiltschen," an adaptation of Grimm's fairy tales by Mrs. Hugh Bell. Mrs. Bell has introduced a fairy act and inter-polations. Frank Buxton, last the title role, Little Miss Tereta Sheaffer, a first grade pupil, is the ingenue.

Miss Helen Moran, the only drummer girl in Washington, will appear in this sketch. The play is being rehearsed under the direction of Miss Frances S. Fairley, principal of the Grover Cleveland school and Miss Cecil B. Norton, a first-grade teacher.

McGee's orchestra will contribute to the musical program and Mrs. John Bernheimer will play musical themes for the various scenes of the play. All costumes were designed by a committee of school girls. The fairy costumes were designed by Miss Margaret Carmody.

The cast follows: King, Otto Speis; Lord Lollipop, Tonia Sheaffer; prince minister, William Chinn; first lord of the admiralty, Warren Winner; minister of war, Robert Brown; minister, Alvin Higgins; Rumpelstiltschen, Frank Buxton; Milanda, the miller's daughter, afterword queen, Lena Ferro; King's jester, Charles Collins; ladies in attendance to the queen, Sarah Dadek, Mary Couzari; queen of fairies, Mary Eaton; dawn fairies, Frances age and Augusta Kennedy; Mirth, Frannie Dadek; Happiness, Mildred McLeod; first fairy, Mildred; second fairy, Rena Ottenberg; fairies, Kate White, Mildred Clevis, Bella Dadek, Ellen Walker, Anna Lee, Wilson, Evelyn Neelie, Roberta Tucker, Henrietta Thompson, Dorothy Muller; elves, Allen Moran, Carl Dennison, Vernon Sizer, Edward Jones, John Frederick, Hugh Rivera, Victor Allen, Louis Dorach, Michael Marce, Vincent Spellings, Coleman Miller, Sam Weinstein.

MERGER OF STREET CAR LINES DENIED

Clarence P. King and George E. Hamilton Refute Report of Proposed Union.

Emphatic denial that a merger of Washington's two street railway companies has been considered today was made by the heads of both companies.

Clarence P. King, president of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, and George E. Hamilton, president of the Capital Traction Company, both said they knew nothing of such a project until they had read about it in the newspapers.

"The idea of a union between the two lines was news to me," said King. "I have had no conference with any one concerning it. Neither have the directors considered the matter. So far as I know, the matter had not been discussed among them, and of course not with any representatives of the other company."

"I have heard a rumor of a union, but I have not read about it in a newspaper," said Hamilton. "I have had no conference with any one concerning it. Neither have the directors considered the matter. So far as I know, the matter had not been discussed among them, and of course not with any representatives of the other company."
